RESTRAINTS AND SECLUSIONS

St. Joseph's Children's Home recognizes the importance and the responsibility for providing a therapeutic and safe environment for all children. Residents will sometimes engage in behavior that places themselves and others in a situation that threatens their safety. Imminent threats or attempts to hurt themselves, threats or attempts to hurt others, and intense behavior that incite others to engage in threatening unsafe behavior may require physical intervention by the staff.

When an unsafe situation occurs it may be necessary to place the child in a physical hold until they are able to manage their behavior. If unsuccessful, it also may be necessary to place the child away from other residents in a room where they are isolated until they have better management of their behavior. It may be necessary to lock the room to maintain this isolation.

Residents are encouraged to utilize a quiet area or room on a voluntary basis to assist with regaining self-control as a preventative measure. If the resident is unwilling to take this responsibility, it may be necessary for staff to intervene.

When a restraint or seclusion placement is necessary, the use and procedures are closely monitored and reviewed. An order from a Licensed Independent Practitioner (Psychologist, Therapist or Registered Nurse) is required for any restraint /seclusion intervention.

If the child requires more than one hour to regain self-control, a Licensed Independent Practitioner is required to meet with the individual in person. If the child has been isolated in a seclusion room, every effort is made to help the child end the need for the isolation and rejoin the community as soon as there is no longer imminent danger to self or others. All staff are extensively trained in the use of de-escalation techniques and the administering of holds that have a minimum risk of hurting the child.

Every effort will be made to prevent physical or psychological injury to the child in the event that a restraint or seclusion placement is required. The safety of the child and others are of primary importance. Past abuse and physical limitations are considered to ensure minimum risk for physical or psychological trauma.

The parent/legal guardian will be notified of the time, reason, and outcome in a timely manner when a restraint and/or seclusion placement is initiated. Whenever prudent, family members may be involved in helping to reduce or eliminate the need for restraint or seclusion procedures.

I have been informed of the philosophy and use of restraints and seclusions by St. Joseph's Children's Home and concur with the interventions when required under the circumstances stated above.

INFORMED CONSENT FOR TELEHEALTH CONSULTATIONS

For convenience and cost-efficiency, behavioral health care services are available by two-way interactive video communications and/or by the electronic transmission of information. Referred to as "telemedicine" or "telehealth," this means that you may be evaluated and treated by a health care provider or specialist from a different location. St. Joseph's contracts with Cheyenne Regional Medical Center's Behavioral Health Division for psychiatry services provided by a Board Certified or Board Eligible Psychiatrist. The psychiatric services are provided on St. Joseph's campus, however, telehealth communication may be utilized in extraordinary circumstances. Since this is different than the type of consultation with which you are familiar, you must certify that you understand and agree to the following:

1. The consulting health care provider or specialist ("Specialist") will be at a different location from me. A physician or other health care provider ("Presenting Practitioner") will be at my location with me to assist in the consultation.
2. The Presenting Practitioner may transmit or share electronically details of my medical history, examinations, x-rays, tests, photographs or other images with the specialist who is at a different location.
3. Details of my medical history, examinations, medications, x-rays, and tests will be discussed with the specialist who is at a different location.
4. I will be informed if any additional personnel are to be present other than myself, individuals accompanying me, the consultant and Presenting Practitioner. I will give my verbal permission prior to additional personnel being present.
5. Video recordings may be taken of the telehealth consultation, after I have given my written permission prior to recording.
6. The Presenting Practitioner for whom the on-site examination or treatment is performed will keep a record of the consultation in my medical record. The Specialist shall also keep a record of the consultation.

Noting all the above, I understand that my participation in the process described (called "telemedicine" or "telehealth") is voluntary.

RELEASE OF INFORMATION: All existing laws regarding access to your medical information and copies of your medical records, including the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) and apply to this telehealth consultation. Additionally, dissemination of any patient identifiable images or information from this telehealth interaction to researchers or other entities shall not occur without your consent.

I further understand that I have the right to:

1. Refuse the telehealth consultation, or stop participation in the telehealth consultation at any time.
2. Limit any physical examination proposed during the telehealth consultation.
3. Request that the Presenting Practitioner refrain from transmitting my information if I make the request before the information is transmitted
4. Request that nonmedical personnel leave the room(s) at any time.
5. Request that all personnel leave the room(s) to allow a private consultation with the off•site specialist(s).

I acknowledge that the health care providers involved have explained the consultations in a satisfactory manner and that all questions that have asked about the consultations have been answered in a manner satisfactory to me or to my representative. Understanding the above, I consent to the telehealth process described above.

PROFESSIONAL DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

Dear Parents/Guardians:

Therapists at St. Joseph's Children's Home offer mental health services to youth with mental health or behavioral problems that are so severe the child cannot be maintained in a less restrictive environment. Youth must be ambulatory and physically and emotionally capable of participating in St. Joseph's residential program. While no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, national origin, or age, the following conditions may fall outside the accepted range of our treatment program:

- Acute psychiatric instability requiring 24-hour medical services.
- Severe mental disability.
- Active physical health problems requiring 24-hour medical and/or nursing care and supervision.

Therapists, Psychologists and Psychiatrists at St. Joseph's Children's Home adhere to the Code of Ethics of the professional organization designated for their discipline, e.g. the American Counseling Association, the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy, the National Association of Alcoholism and Drug Abuse Counselors, the National Association of Social Workers, the American Psychological Association, and the American Psychiatric Association, and strongly agree that sexual intimacy with a client is never appropriate. Therapy and treatment issues are confidential. Disclosure of treatment issues and progress will be provided only for those persons or agencies that are legally entitled to such, unless you sign a specific release for information to be provided.

As of March 1, 1999 Wyoming has implemented a privileged communication statute. This law states that, when involved in legal proceedings (civil, criminal or juvenile) clients retain the right to privacy, unless any of the following specific circumstances exist:

a) abuse or harmful neglect of children, the elderly or disabled or incompetent individuals is known or reasonably suspected

b) the validity of a will of a former client is contested.

c) information related to counseling is necessary to defend against a malpractice action brought by a client

d) an immediate threat of physical violence against a readily identifiable victim is disclosed to the counselor

e) in the context of civil commitment proceedings, where an immediate threat of self-inflicted harm is disclosed to the counselor

f) the client alleges mental or emotional damages in civil litigation or his/her mental or emotional state becomes an issue in any court proceeding concerning child custody or visitation

g) the patient or client is examined pursuant to a court order

h) In the context of investigations and hearings brought by the client and conducted by the board, where violations of this act are at issue. Information that is deemed to be of a sensitive nature will be inspected by the board and the board shall determine whether or not the information will become part of the record and subject to public disclosure.

Treatment Involvement for Parents/Family

We are pleased you have chosen to place your confidence in the treatment services offered at St. Joseph's Children's Home. By doing this we have now become partners, working together, to assist your son or daughter in making meaningful changes. You and your family have probably wanted these changes to occur for a long time and have maybe become frustrated with previous attempts to get this accomplished. The process of helping another human being emotionally heal can become extremely demanding on us emotionally, socially, physically and financially.

We both want your child to have a better life! Our treatment team is committed to do everything possible that encourages positive growth and effective change. After working with hundreds of children and their families for over eighty years, as well as reading what researchers have repeatedly said about successful residential treatment, a major conclusion is drawn: We have to create a solid partnership! While it's a simple formula, 'work together', it is also the strongest predictor of how successful our treatment services will be for any child we serve. It's not enough for a boy or girl to do well in our environment at Saint Joseph's if they then begin to falter once they are discharged. We want to help provide treatment that creates enduring types of change.

All of us; you, your child and his or her treatment team at Saint Joseph's have to work hard and together in order to get the best results possible. Insurance companies, judges, social workers and special educators are also well aware of this need for a partnership between residential programs and parents. They do everything within their power to promote us working together.

We are inviting your willingness to begin and complete this journey together by making a commitment to take on the following responsibilities:

- Parents will participate in monthly treatment review meetings that are designed to discuss recent progress, adjust the treatment plan if necessary, and provide encouragement for your child to continue to work hard at making meaningful changes.
- Parents will participate in weekly family therapy for a minimum of 60 minutes per week. These sessions, by virtue of the family's distance from St. Joseph's, may typically occur by phone or by Skype, if the family prefers and has capability for Skype. The 60 minutes per week is a requirement of the Wyoming Department of Health, Medicaid Division. Scheduling of family sessions and identification of the participants will be arranged each week directly with the child's therapist.
- Parents will attend face-to-face family therapy sessions on-site at St. Joseph's whenever possible to arrange. The face-to-face family sessions will be arranged in advance directly with child's therapist.
- At least once during their child's stay, parents are strongly urged to attend the Common Sense parent training held at St. Joseph's on a quarterly basis. It is desirable and recommended that parents attend more than one parent training whenever possible.

We have read and commit to the outlined responsibilities:

Notice of Information Practices to Protect the Privacy of Your Child's Health Information

Understanding Your Child's Mental Health Record Information

THIS NOTICE DESCRIBES HOW MEDICAL AND TREATMENT INFORMATION ABOUT YOUR CHILD MAY BE USED AND DISCLOSED AND HOW YOU CAN GET ACCESS TO THIS INFORMATION. PLEASE REVIEW IT CAREFULLY.

Each time your child visits any healthcare provider, including admission to a residential treatment facility, the provider makes a record of your child's visit. Typically, this record contains your child's health history, current symptoms, examination and test results, diagnoses, treatment, and a plan for future care or treatment.

This information, often referred to as your child's medical or clinical record, serves as a:

- Basis for planning your child's care and treatment.
- Means of communication among the many health professionals who contribute to your child's care.
- Legal document describing the care your child received.
- Means by which you or a third-party payer can verify that your child actually received the services billed for.
- A tool in medical education.
- A source of information for public health officials charged with improving the health of the regions they serve.
- A tool to assess the appropriateness and quality of care your child received.
- A tool to improve the quality of healthcare and achieve better patient outcomes.

Understanding what is in your child's health records and how this information is used helps you to:

- Ensure its accuracy and completeness.
- Understand who, what, where, why, and how others may access your child's health information.
- Make informed decisions about authorizing disclosure to others.
- Better understand the health information rights detailed below.

I. Uses and Disclosures for Treatment, Payment, and Health Care Operations

St. Joseph's may use or disclose your child's protected health information (PHI), for treatment, payment, and health care operation purposes with your consent. To help clarify these terms, here are some definitions:

- "PHI" refers to information in your child's health record that could identify your child.
- "Treatment, Payment and Health Care Operations"
  – Treatment is when we provide, coordinate or manage your child's health care and other services related to your child's health care. An example of treatment would be when we consult with another health care provider, such as your child's family physician or another provider.
  – Payment is when St. Joseph's obtains reimbursement for your child's healthcare. Examples of payment are when St. Joseph's discloses your child's PHI to your child's health insurer to obtain reimbursement for your child's health care or to determine eligibility or coverage.
  – Health Care Operations are activities that relate to the performance and operation of St. Joseph's practice. Examples of health care operations are quality assessment and improvement activities, business-related matters such as audits and administrative services, and case management and care coordination.

- "Use" applies only to activities within St. Joseph's such as sharing, employing, applying, utilizing, examining, and analyzing information that identifies your child.
- "Disclosure" applies to activities outside of St. Joseph's, such as releasing, transferring, or providing access to information about your child to other parties.

II. Uses and Disclosures Requiring Authorization

St. Joseph's may use or disclose PHI for purposes outside of treatment, payment, and health care operations when appropriate authorization is obtained. An "authorization" is written permission above and beyond the general consent that permits only specific disclosures. In those instances when St. Joseph's is asked for information for purposes outside of treatment, payment and health care operations, St. Joseph's will obtain an authorization from you before releasing this information. St. Joseph's will also need to obtain an authorization before releasing your child's psychotherapy notes.

"Psychotherapy notes" are notes St. Joseph's therapists have made regarding a conversation which occurred during a private, group, joint, or family counseling session, which have been kept separate from the rest of your child's medical record. These notes are given a greater degree of protection than PHI.

You may revoke all such authorizations (of PHI or psychotherapy notes) at any time, provided each revocation is in writing. You may not revoke an authorization to the extent that (1) St. Joseph's has relied on that authorization; or (2) if the authorization was obtained as a condition of obtaining insurance coverage/payment and the law provides the insurer the right to contest the claim under the policy.

III. Uses and Disclosures with Neither Consent nor Authorization

St. Joseph's may use or disclose PHI without your consent or authorization in the following circumstances:

- Child Abuse: If staff know, or have reasonable cause to believe or suspect that a child has been abused or neglected, or if staff observe any child being subjected to conditions or circumstances that would reasonably result in abuse or neglect, St. Joseph's must immediately report it to the field or regional offices of the Wyoming Department of Family Services or local law enforcement agency, or cause a report to be made.

- Adult and Domestic Abuse: If staff have reasonable cause to believe that an elderly or disabled adult is being or has been abused, neglected, exploited, or abandoned, or is committing self-neglect, St. Joseph's is required by law to report such information immediately to a law enforcement agency or to the Wyoming Department of Family Services.

- Health Oversight: If you file a complaint against St. Joseph's with the Department of Family Services, St. Joseph's may disclose to them confidential mental health information that is relevant to that complaint.

- Judicial or administrative proceedings: If you are involved in a court proceeding and a request is made for information about your child's diagnosis, treatment or the records thereof, such information is privileged under state law. St. Joseph's will not release such information without written authorization from you or your child's legally appointed representative, or a court order. The privilege does not apply when you are being evaluated for a third party or where the evaluation is court ordered. You will be informed in advance if this is the case.

- Serious Threat to Health or Safety: St. Joseph's shall not disclose any information communicated for the purpose of diagnosis, evaluation or treatment of any mental or emotional condition or disorder, in the absence of an express waiver of the privilege except where an immediate threat of physical violence against a readily identifiable victim is disclosed to St. Joseph's.

- Worker's Compensation: If you file a worker's compensation claim through your employer, this claim serves as a release of information for the duration of the benefit period, and upon request and upon notice to you, St. Joseph's must release mental health records pertaining to your injury to the Wyoming Worker's Compensation Division or your employer.
